Hello!
This is the V&A!
Where is the V&A?
Victoria and Albert Museum

Art museum

Overview

Blockbuster exhibitions and permanent decorative arts collection, with design shop and ornate cafe.

Admission

Gives you entry to this place

Victoria and Albert Museum

Free

General admission

Cromwell Rd, London SW7 2RL

Open - Closes 10 pm

See more hours

vam.ac.uk
The V&A Museum

This is the V&A museum seen from Exhibition Road.

This is the best entrance to reach the workshop.
This is the Courtyard.

There are steps down to the entrance, and a ramp on the right hand side.
When you arrive

When you come through the museum door, you will arrive in The Blavatnik Hall.
When you arrive

As you enter you will see a Security Officer, they may ask to check your bag.

The Security Officers help keep the galleries safe.
Who you will meet

This is a Visitor Experience Assistant.

They will be at the doors to welcome you.

They will be able to direct you to the workshop and answer your questions.
Where is the activity taking place?
In the Art Studio which is in the Learning Centre

The route to the Learning Centre from the Exhibition Road entrance.
What will you be doing?
As a family you’ll get to design, make with light and dark, reflections, shadows, and colours.

If you need a break, there will be a breakout space available through the day.
All activities are optional.
Who you will meet

You will be greeted by Gareth who is going to welcome you to the V&A and lead the session on the day.
Who you will meet

You will be greeted by Mavreen who is going to welcome you to the V&A and be around to help on the day.
When is the next session after this?
The next session is on the 8th of June.
Meet the group – Groundswell Arts

Groundswell Arts creates free and accessible projects for families. They believe in the power of shared creative experiences and seek to develop projects that not only nurture creativity in children and young people but in their whole families. Groundswell Arts also develops a range of projects and offers children and young people with special needs, disabilities, and their family members to participate in high quality arts experiences. Artistic Directors Gareth Howells and Angeline Conaghan lead a team of artists in a range of creative projects.
Gareth Howells

Gareth has been working as an actor, director, set design and production manager for experimental theatre for the past 25 years, working in mainstream and children’s theatre, community outreach projects and with SEND children and families. Since teaming up with Angeline in 2010 to form Groundswell Arts, Gareth has used his many skills to create theatrical child friendly spaces that use creativity to inspire child learning.